State Highway Patrolman Is Gunfight Victor

Logan County Chase Ends in Duel After Victim Shoots Wife

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — A 49 - year - old unemployed Logan County man who shot his estranged wife in a family quarrel was killed by a State Highay Patrolman yesterday in a gun battle.

Patrolman F. A. Denison killed James Bird, one-time bowling alley attendant, after Bird fired at him. Seconds before Bird had shot his wife, Mildred, 45. She is in fair condition at a Bellefontaine hospital.

The shooting followed a wild chase through Southern Logan County.

Bird went to his house earlier in the day and forced his wife into his car, patrol headquarters reported. One of the children, frightened at his father's drunken condition and belligerent attitude, telephoned the patrol.

Denison spotted Bird's car near West Liberty, but the man eluded him. He finally found the car parked behind a farm building off U. S. 68. As the officer approached, Bird shot his wife, jumped out of the car and began firing at Denison, yelling "Do you want some of it, too?"

The patrol said Bird shot his wife because she had threatened to leave the county to seek work to support her six children. Four of the children are in a county home and two are living with farm families in the area.

Bird had been unemployed for several months and had been drinking heavily, Sheriff's Deputy Carrol Arthur said.

The Birds had been separated six weeks.

70 Americans Among First 400 POWs To Be Freed

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Four hundred Allied war prisoners—70 of them Americans—come home to freedom in a few hours, opening the happiest postscript to the Korean War—"operation big switch."

The big trade of Allied war prisoners for Red begins tomorrow at 9 a.m. (7 p.m. Tuesday, EST).

The Reds are handing over 12,763 captives—3,313 Americans, 8,186 South Koreans, 922 British and 342 from 9 other Allied countries. Four hundred will be freed daily, 100 each hour for four hours.

Some spent almost all 37 months of the Korean War in bleak prison camps in North Korea.

They'll return to freedom at this neutral center where Allies and Reds met for two years and finally wrote an armistice July 27 —the ticket to freedom for the POWs.

The Allies are giving the Reds 74,000 prisoners—69,000 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese—at the rate of 2,400 able bodied and 360 sick and wounded daily.

On the eve of the great exchange, Red Cross representatives from both sides crossed the line at Panmunjom to begin inspection of prisoner camps and to comfort the homebound captives.

Thirty Allied members went north, the first time in more than three years that any Allied representative has gone into North Korea without fighting.

Thirty Reds came south under protection of U. N. military police, grinning like schoolkids at their first ride in helicopters.

Panmunjom itself rustled restlessly as The Hour neared.

The Reds said the first group of 100 men to be freed would be sick and wounded—35 Americans, 50 South Koreans, 8 Turks, 2 Filipinos, 1 Briton, 1 Australian, 1 Canadian, 1 Belgian and 1 South African.

An hour later, at 10 a.m., they'll hand back 50 South Koreans, 25 British, 10 Filipinos, 7 French, 7 Colombians, and 1 Greek.

The 11 a.m. group will include 35 Americans, 15 Turks and 50 sick and wounded South Koreans.

At noon, 100 South Koreans will be released.

Allied troops hurried through last-minute preparations to care for the freed captives.

Fat Fee in Tax Case Interests House Probers

Paid $65,000 for Favorable Ruling, Witness Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators sought information today about a $65,000 fee a New York manufacturer said he paid in cash after getting a favorable income tax ruling from the Treasury.

William S. Lasdon of Katonah, N. Y., testified yesterday he paid Washington Atty. Welburn S. Maycock such a fee under those circumstances.

Maycock was identified by John Tobin, counsel for a ways and means investigating subcommittee, as attorney for the Democratic National committee in 1944 and 1948.

The subcommittee summoned Maycock for questioning today about the money and what he did to earn it. A witness testified yesterday that high Treasury officials intervened in the case after government tax experts had recommended against a ruling in Lasdon's favor.

The committee is looking for "undue influence" by top Treasury officials on tax case decisions.

Lasdon, president of the Nepara Chemical Co. of Yonkers, N. Y., testified yesterday he paid Maycock $65,000 cash less than three months after Maycock took the case on a contingent fee basis.

Lasdon denied "any suggestion of a bribe or political contribution." He said he thought it rather unusual," however, that Maycock asked payment in cash.

He said William Solomon of New York arranged a meeting with Maycock after Lasdon's own attorneys had failed to obtain a tax ruling, and, in fact had advised against pressing his application on grounds it would be rejected.

Lasdon told the committee he met Maycock in July 1948, and that the favorable tax ruling was handed down in September 1948.

Karl R. Price, then an attorney in the Internal Revenue Bureau, testified that in August 1948—shortly after Maycock entered the case —former Asst. Secretary of the Treasury Edward H. Foley telephoned him urging "all haste" in

Join Conference

Ike, Cabinet Members Sit In With Governors

SEATTLE (AP) — President Eisenhower and Cabinet members joined 44 governors today in a roundtable discussion — and perhaps some questioning—on the stewardship of the nation's natural resources.

Eisenhower was strictly a listener last night as Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey spoke before the glittering, flag-bedecked state dinner of the National Governors Conference and—

1. Defended what he called the administration's "honest dollar policy." He said that higher interest rates benefit everyone, not just a few bankers.

2. Declared "we are going to do the best we can to get by" on the present 275 billion dollar debt limit until January, adding:

"If we can't we'll have to call a special session" of Congress.

The House passed but the Senate decided to hold back the administration bill to raise the debt limit to 290 billion before Congress adjourned last night.

Eisenhower received a noisy ovation from the predominantly Republican governors when he walked briskly into the formal social gathering a few hours after his arrival by plane. In white dinner jacket and black tie, he had a smile and a handclasp for each of the governors introduced by host Governor Arthur B. Langlie. To some he waved.

The President planned to visit his brother Edgar, a lawyer in nearby Tacoma, late today. He will fly back to Washington tonight.

Secretary Humphrey emphasized anew in his speech last night that the administration does not have, and never has had, a hard money policy, as some Democrats have charged.

Dulles' Plane Is Delayed by Bad Weather

Arrives in Seoul 13 Hours Late To Begin Conference With Rhee

SEOUL (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles arrived here tonight to confer with President Syngman Rhee on post-armistice American-Korean relations.

Dulles' plane, carrying Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, and several of the secretary's top aides, landed at 10:06 p. m. (8:06 a. m. EST)—13 hours late after a flight across the stormy North Pacific.

By flying to Korea, Dulles fulfilled a pledge he made prior to the signing of the Korean truce—that a high-ranking American diplomat would visit the fiery South Korean president if Rhee agreed not to obstruct an armistice.

Far East Air Forces said in Tokyo a second big transport carrying U. S. Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens was accompanying Dulles flight.

There were anxious moments between 9 a. m., Dulles' original scheduled arrival time at Seoul, and an Air Force announcement nearly 2½ hours later that the secretary's plane had not left Shemya until 9:47 a. m.—12 hours late.

Presumably the delay was caused by stormy weather over the Aleutian route which the planes took from McChord Air Force Base Wash., although there was no official explanation.

Dulles is scheduled to confer five days with Rhee, unhappy partner in the Korean truce.

Week of Open House Planned At High School

Formal dedication of the new Harding High School Friday, Aug. 28 will climax a week of open house ceremonies at the new building.

The school will be open to the public from Monday through Friday, Aug. 24 through 28. Hours in which the building will be shown will be from 3 to 5 in the afternoons and 7 to 9 in the evenings.

Special guides will be on hand to show the visitors through the new school and Marion Transit Inc. has promised to provide half-hour bus service to and from the school during open house hours.

The formal dedication will be preceded by a concert given by the high school band. This concert will begin at 7:30 and the dedication program promptly at 8 p.m.

Dr. Lewis B. Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota, will be the main speaker at the dedication. He is a native of Marion.

Following the dedication, there will be a one-hour open house, during which time the persons attending the ceremony will have an opportunity to inspect the building.

Former Senator Is Reported Heading News Syndicate

DETROIT (AP) — Former Democratic Sen. Blair Moody was reported today to be heading a national syndicate of businessmen in the leasing of a Detroit printing firm for publishing of a newspaper.

The Detroit News said a syndicate composed of Detroit and New York businessmen acquired a lease on the Michigan Rotary Printing Co. of Detroit, one of the largest rotary printing installations in the Midwest.

The Syndicate obtained a lease with an option to buy the company, it was said.

The syndicate reportedly includes:

Roger L. Stevens, Detroit, principal owner of the Empire State Bldg., New York, and engaged in shopping center developments in Boston and Seattle; M. A. Boyle, New York, secretary to Bernard M. Baruch, financier and adviser to several presidents; Mrs. Paul G. Hoffman, wife of the chairman of the board of Studebaker Corp.

William J. Scripps, of a Detroit newspaper family; Max Osnos, Detroit department store owner; Dwight L. G. Palmer, New York, president of General Cable Corp.; Lawrence Fleischman, Detroit businessman.

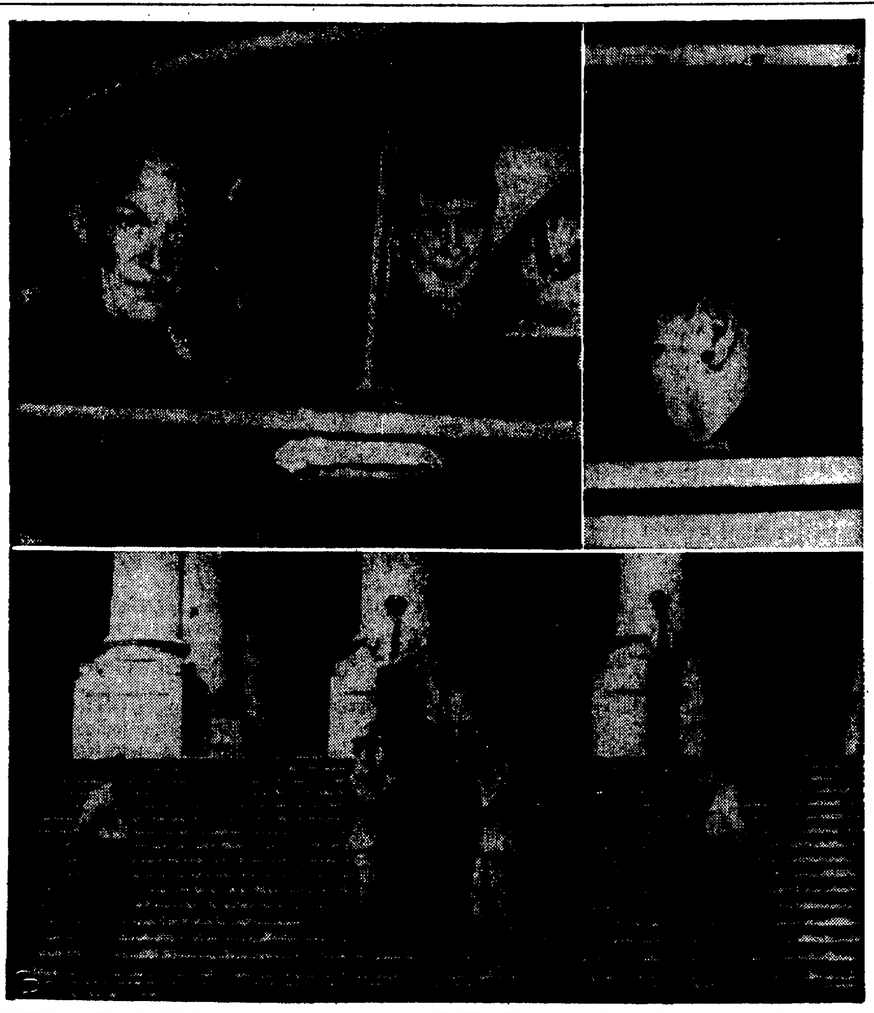
83rd Congress Adjourns With Many Major Issues Shelved Until Next Term



NATION PAYS SOLEMN TRIBUTE TO SENATOR TAFT. The nation, led by President and Mrs. Eisenhower (top left) pays its last respects to Senator Robert A. Taft, famous son of a famous father, in a state funeral in Washington, D.C. The Ohio senator's saddened widow, Mrs. Martha Taft (top right) boards a plane to attend funeral services in Cincinnati. An honor guard of soldiers (bottom) bears the casket from the capitol rotunda en route to the airport for the flight to Cincinnati.

Taft Is Buried At Indian Hill In Simple Rites

Only Family, Close Friends Present for Services at Church

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, the son of a president and one of the nation's leaders in his own right, was buried today in the little community which has claimed him as its own for three decades.

His family and close personal friends were the only ones in attendance as a simple funeral service was read in the little slate-roofed Indian Hill Church.

There were only slightly more than 200 persons in the church.

Fifteen miles away in downtown Cincinnati public officials and the public gathered in Christ Church to hear a memorial service.

Sen. Taft's body was brought back here yesterday after a state funeral in Washington. He died Friday in New York of cancer. An estimated 15,000 persons viewed the closed bronze casket yesterday evening and last night in a downtown funeral home.

It was seemingly symbolic of Sen. Taft's life and career in public life as the church choir sang the hymn "Fight the Good Fght With All Thy Might" at the opening of the services at the Indian Hill Church.

The hymn was selected by the family as the senator's favorite.

In accordance with Episcopal custom and the wishes of the family, there was no eulogy.

The Rev. Luther Tucker, rector of the church, who conducted the service, with an opening prayer and then read three Psalms.

They were the 27th ("The Lord is My Light and My Salvation; Whom Then Shall Fear?"); the 46th ("God is Our Hope and Strength, a Very Present Hope in Trouble") and the 121st ("I will Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hills from Whence Cometh My Help?").

In his opening prayer, Rev. Tucker departed from the standard text to add a prayer for the Congress of the United States, suggesting that it now needed divine guidance more than ever.

Members of the family occupied the first three pews on the left side of the church. They included the invalid Mrs. Taft and the four sons.

Sen. Taft's body was the first to

Record Reviewed

Parts of Ike's Program Pass, Others Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six months ago President Eisenhower laid down to Congress what he called "a sure and substantial beginning" toward the kind of program he thought best for the country.

Congress, in the session which ended yesterday, adopted some of his proposals and rejected others. Still others outlined in the President's State of the Union message Feb. 2 were never presented to Congress by the administration.

The President gave his own estimate last month when he told his news conference he felt progress had been made, but not fast enough. New ideas and new people need time to get going, he said, and there is always some friction.

Eisenhower's first big victory and his biggest defeat came in the fiscal field—taxes that bring in revenue and borrowing power that gives economic elbow room.

The victory was in overriding the vigorous objections of Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY) and winning a six-month extension until Dec. 31 of the excess profits tax on business.

The stunning setback was in losing an 11th-hour plea to raise by 15 billion dollars the 275 billion dollar limit on how much the government can be in debt.

Eisenhower had said, in his State of the Union message, that taxes should not be reduced and the statutory debt limit should be raised.

But Congress did vote to reduce a tax, by passing a bill to repeal the 20 per cent levy on movie theater admissions. It went to Eisenhower's desk for signature days ago and there was some talk he might veto it.

The administration moved toward his goal of a balanced budget but it still faced a deficit this year estimated at $5,800,000,000, including many items left over from the Truman administration.

Eisenhower ran into a heated fight but won an over-all victory in getting approval for 6½ billion dollars in foreign aid outlays.

Here's how far Congress went in implementing other major foreign policy proposals in Eisenhower's State of the Union message:

1. Authorized the President to spend 200 million dollars for reconstruction in South Korea.

2. Extended the Reciprocal

Knowland After Job

Senate Fight on To Fill Post of Majority Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brushing aside some protests, Republican senators today set out to elect a permanent majority leader, with Sen. William F. Knowland of California the only candidate in sight.

And Knowland supporters indicated that Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan then would replace him as chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

A last-minute effort to delay the election—scheduled at a closed-door session to which all 46 Republican senators were invited—was beaten late yesterday in a contest that may open a breach in GOP Senate ranks.

The delaying move was led by Senators Bridges of New Hampshire, who tops all Senate Republicans in seniority, and McCarthy of Wisconsin, who told reporters it would be "a serious mistake" to hold the election today.

Knowland met the challenge head on by quickly assembling the policy group. It was learned he told the committee he was unwilling to continue as acting leader.

Knowland has been acting leader since June, when Senate Leader Robert A. Taft of Ohio unshouldered the task as his health weakened from the cancer which took his life Friday.

In the showdown yesterday, Sen. Millikin of Colorado acted as chairman and reported a "unanimous decision" by the policy group, with Bridges absent and Knowland not voting, to push ahead with the election.

Millikin produced letters of requests for a delay from Bridges,

Start Made Away From New Dealism

GOP Administration, First in 2 Decades, Posts Mixed Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—At the stroke of midnight, the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress wrote finis to a mixed record of action and lethargy in helping President Eisenhower fulfill his campaign pledges.

But the lawmakers left behind for their second session beginning Jan. 6—or a possible special meeting this fall—an imposing list of key measures which will make or break their record.

Many of the hottest potatoes, including some of the President's recommendations, were simply left in the bin. Others, on the advice of the President, were handed to study commissions for closer scrutiny.

This first session—of the first Congress in two decades to be Republican-controlled while a Republican was in the White House—made a firm start toward edging away from the Democratic party's New Deal and "Fair Deal" philosophies.

But even Republicans conceded it was only a start, and much of it at that achieved only with Democratic aid.

Eisenhower will give the nation his own estimate of this session's achievements in a radio broadcast Thursday, from 8:30 p. m. to 9 p. m., EST, to be carried by all major networks and possibly rebroadcast later.

Last night he sent letters of "warm thanks and appreciation" to the House and Senate for the long hours they put in.

There was no hint in the letters of any chagrin over his biggest legislative misfire: a plea to boost the statutory debt limit.

But there was a hint, or appeared to be one, of no intention to call a special session in the fall. With the debt now 272½ billion dollars and more borrowing predicted, Eisenhower's fiscal leaders had been insistent that the statutory debt limit be raised from 275 billions to 290 billions.

A special session in October or November was obviously in prospect. But Eisenhower said in his letters to the members of Congress "I look forward to seeing all of you again in January . . ."

When the Senate Finance Committee killed off the House - approved debt limit proposal Saturday, both houses lit into their race for early adjournment again.

Official windup time for the Senate was midnight local time. Actually it ran 39 minutes longer, but the adjournment resolution made midnight the final hour.

The end came in the House at 11:07, just three minutes before Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) began a speech in the Senate attacking the Eisenhower administration's power policy. About a dozen senators were still on hand at the final gavel.

But the end didn't come in the House before an angry debate over a resolution to open the way for members of Congress to give themselves a pay raise.

The House approved the resolution 171-28—without a record vote —setting up a commission which would recommend the proper salary level for congressmen and members of the judiciary. Congress would have to vote on the commission's report.

The final logjam was broken when the Senate gave way to House demands to cut out of an appropriation bill 12½ million dollars which had been earmarked for airport construction. That cleared the way for quick passage of the measure appropriating $1,086,000,000 for the State, Commerce and Justice departments.

In the closing hours that included a pause for tribute to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), Congress pushed through final agreement on a huge 53½ billion dollar program to finance the spending of the government and the armed services in the year which started July 1.

The bill was trimmed but not

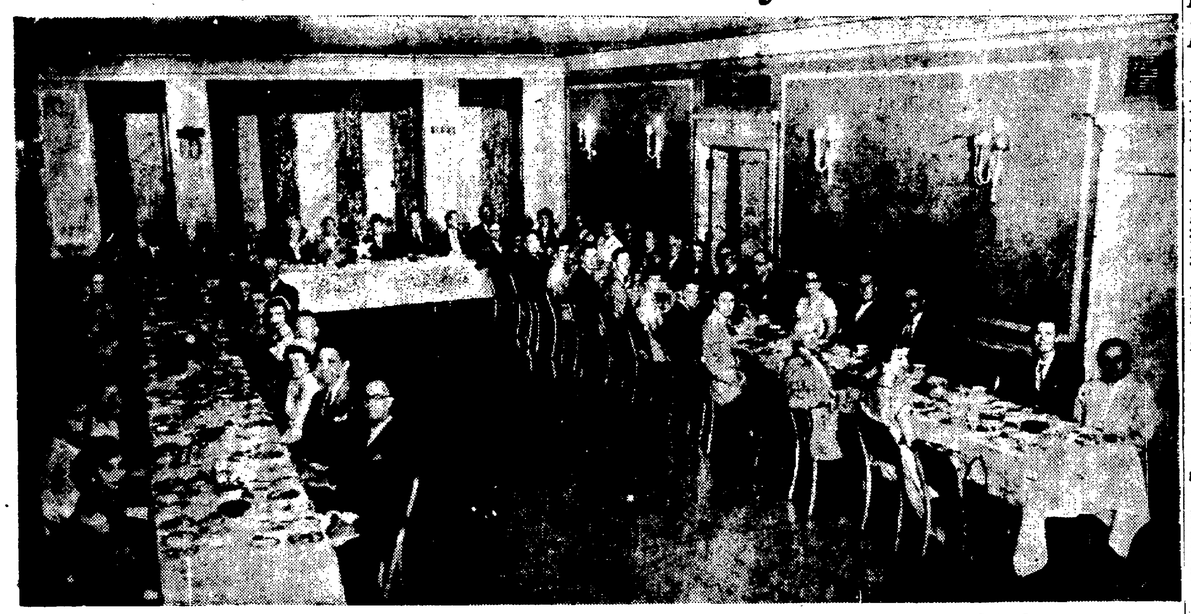
Star Staff, Officials Honor Harry Elliott at Dinner



Sixty members of The Marion Star staff and officials of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., gathered at Hotel Harding Monday night to honor Harry S. Elliott, who retired last Saturday as editor of The Star.

Elliott, who retired after almost 50 years in the newspaper business, announced after the dinner that he intends to engage in free-lance writing.

In the after-dinner speeches by G. Gordon Strong, vice president and general manager of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.; Joseph K. Vodrey, vice president of the firm; J. D. Raridan, Brush-Moore executive editor; William Moore, Brush-Moore promotion manager; Edna Dutton, society editor of The Star, John A. Maxwell Jr., new editor of The Star, and James C. Woods, business manager of The Star, Elliott was praised for his attention to duty and the excellent work he has done in the newspaper field.

Also present at the dinner were Mrs. Elliott, the Elliotts' son John and his wife of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Maxwell. John Short, sports editor of The Star, acted as toastmaster. Elaine Ballinger, church editor, gave the invocation.

At the start of the program Mr. Short read a letter of appreciation to Mr. Elliott from Roy D. Moore, president of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

Mr. Strong, Mr. Vodrey, Mr. Raridan and Mr. William Moore were guests from Canton, headquarters of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

Elliott retired after 23 years as editor of The Star. During that time, he had supervised the printing of more than 7,000 editions.

Elliott first entered the newspaper field as a reporter for the Marion Mirror. In 1908, he went into politics and was elected Marion's second city auditor. He later was elected county treasurer. At the completion of his term in that office, he became cashier of a Marion bank.

In 1921, he returned to newspaper work as managing editor of the Martins Ferry Daily Times. He then did editorial work at Portsmouth before returning to Marion to become managing editor of the Morning Tribune.

When The Star and the Tribune were merged, he went back to Martins Ferry until 1926 when he once again returned to Marion as city editor of The Star. In 1930, he was named managing editor of the paper he served until his retirement Saturday.

In his talk, Elliott covered the period of history during which he wrote. He discussed World War I, the "false economy" which followed, the depression, World War II and the present world crisis.

He said he felt himself fortunate to have been able to chronicle the events of that period, which he termed the most eventful since the life of Christ.

Elliott's four sons have followed in their father's footsteps. All are engaged in newspaper work or associated fields; Robert, with the Miami, Fla., Herald; John with the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal; William, with the Baton Rouge, La., Advocate and State Times; and Charles, in advertising in Hartford, Conn.

Of Connie Ward Boyles, who was killed two years ago today.
God has taken home our darling,
Placed one more bud among His flowers;
Taken back the one He lent us,
To a better home than ours.
Where flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we love so dearly;
But whom we could not save.
Heaven now protects our darling,
Earth her lovely casket keeps.
And the angels love to linger
Where our loved one sleeps.
There is an ache in our heart today,
That passing years cannot take away;
A place in our hearts that nothing can fill,
We miss you dear Connie and always will.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Uhlers 3rd Floor.

LaRue Youth To Make Trip

Exciting Days in Akron Await Derby Winners

A week end packed with action and fun awaits Phillip Blue, Marion 1953 Soap Box Derby champion, and 151 other champions from all over the world making the trip to Akron to compete in the 16th annual All-American Soap Box Derby Sunday.

Phillip, who will be 15 years old Aug. 9, will be accompanied to Derbytown by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Blue of LaRue. He received the expense-paid trip and a chance to compete for the national championship by winning the recent Marion Soap Box Derby. Phillips is a sophomore at the LaRue School.

From check-in time Thursday, Aug. 6 at the Mayflower Hotel to the Banquet of Champions Sunday night, wheels will be rolling at top speed to give the boys the time of their lives.

The royal welcome to the city will include rolling out the red carpet, reception by a brass band and a police escort through the city streets with the sirens open.

After official greetings at the hotel, the champions will be outfitted and moved to Derbytown at Camp Y-Noah for a round of boating, swimming and other entertainment. Only trips away from the camp will be to Derby Downs Friday and Saturday for test runs and last minute work on cars.

At Derbytown, scenes for the official 1954 Soap Box Derby film, "Opportunity on Wheels," will be shot by General Motors photographic cameraman. Celebrities taking part in the Soop Box Derby program will visit the camp. Among them will be Captain Video of television fame who will drop from the sky Saturday in a helicopter. Singer Dinah Shore and her husband, George Montgomery, movie star, and other celebrities will pay visits.

To top off the Derbytown program, business and community leaders of Akron will serve the champions a meal with all the trimmings Saturday noon under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

Red, white and blue will be the color scheme for camp togs and racing regalia. The boys will be allowed to keep these with other mementoes that will be distributed.

Biggest prize list of any Soap Box Derby, topped by $15,000 in college scholarships for the first five finishers, will be on the line Sunday. With these will go the most valuable merchandise awards ever offered in the boys' classic.

Joe Lunn, the mighty might who drove to victory last year in his taped-up rambling wreck from Georgia, will make an exhibition run in his car immediately preceding the race Sunday.

Just before Joe's descent of the hill, celebrities will vie in the popular Oil Can Trophy race. Dinah Shore in a new sports car will lead the pre-race parade as honorary marshal, Wilbur Shaw, three-time winner of the Indianapolis Speedway race and now president of the Speedway, will be ref T be referee. The United States Marine Band will play.

Big wind-up will be the Banquet of Champions in Goodyear Hall at 7 p.m. Sunday, when awards will be made and each champion will take his bow.

Government Seizes Big Estates in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's revolutionary government has launched the second phase of its fight against the nation's big fortunes. President Victor Paz Estenssoro's regime Sunday began breaking up large landholdings and parceling them out to the peasants.

The government took over Bolivia's tin mines, the major export industry, last October. The land distribution had been demanded by the powerful labor federation, major backers of Paz Estenssoro's regime.

The payroll that grows in a field

DOLLAR BILLS sprouting from the ground? No, but something almost as startling happens when an industry buys this field to build a new manufacturing plant. Soon new payrolls spring up and the whole town benefits.

This happens over and over again in the communities served by the Erie Railroad. Industry chooses communities that show signs of healthy growth and prosperity—communities that are served by a progressive railroad.

You can see why the Erie is interested in the healthy growth of your community and doing its part to make it an even better place in which to work and live. For as you grow the railroad grows, too. This is mutual progress—one helps the other.

That's why the Erie works constantly to keep pace with your community's progress—by improving our equipment and service to you and industry. In that way, we help draw new industries and bigger payrolls to your town—all adding up to the kind of prosperity that made America the rich nation it is today.

Eisenhower's Major Reform

One of the things homecoming congressmen will check with their constituents is President Eisenhower's philosophy of gradualism.

This is his belief that public progress must be made gradually — by going ahead on a curve, instead of changing direction abruptly. It is a philosophy that has caused his administration to be criticized by extremists who think nothing is happening in public affairs unless there is an emergency.

That is what congressmen will want to find out—whether or not their constituents are reacting favorably to an atmosphere of calmness in Washington.

If they mistake calmness for indifference, or if congressen find signs of public restlessness over the novelty of a measured tread in public affairs instead of an endless rushing for the nearest fire-alarm box, the Eisenhower administration's tactics in this respect will be challenged next year when the second session of the 83rd Congress convenes.

But it seems likelier as the first session winds up its affairs that its homecoming members will find an attitude of patience. Their constituents are withholding judgment on the first Republican president to replace a Democratic president since 1921. They are reconciled to gradualism too.

President Eisenhower has offered only one major reform so far in his administration—an end of government by endless emergencies. There is no reason to believe his countrymen will blame either him or Congress for taking the attitude that the United States now has been in existence long enough to have attained poise and composure.

Honest Differences of Opinion

Among the numerous statements of condolence which followed Sen. Taft's death were many by his political opponents. They had a special ring of sincerity.

Had it been the other way around, Sen. Taft would have been making equally sincere statements of condolence about them. The highest tribute to a public figure in America comes from citizens who disagreed with his public views. They are voicing the very essence of the secret of popular government.

In the hurly-burly of debate, it is tempting to impugn an opponent's motives. There was a minimum of that sort of thing tried against Sen. Taft because his sincerity was above question.

In these days of appraisal following his death, it seems probable his greatest contribution to the country he loved may have been his ability to command respect from his political opponents.

On issues such as public housing and public aid to education and health, he changed his views as he accumulated evidence. His ability to keep an open mind was one of the most remarkable things about this man of firm convictions.

He conceded that circumstances might change the answers to any public question. He always stood for revision of the Labor-Management Act and even incorporated in this controversial law the means of keeping it up to date from year to year.

On one principle, however—his key principle—Sen. Taft was immovable. He was dedicated to that view of liberalism which holds that a liberal's mission is to preserve and improve human freedom. He was a conservator of freedom at a time when so-called liberals found little that seemed worth conserving.

Yet even some of these have paid stirring tributes to Sen. Taft's honesty and sincerity. As long as self-governing Americans can do that, they will be in no real danger from absolutists who seek to settle every difference of opinion absolutely—and violently, if necessary.

Channel Swimming

In the absence of a better explanation, it must be assumed Egyptians are swimming the English Channel as part of a terror campaign to win independence.

This young Abd Litif Abou Heif, who set a record last Sunday, brought a whole team of champions with him. He and his team mates also set a relay record for swimming the Channel.

Egyptians first took up this strange activity in 1928. Then they were absent until 1948. Now they have only one more record to shoot at—a two-way crossing.

Florence Chadwick, America's pride, has done it. An Englishman, E. H. Temme, once did it. A Scotsman, William N. Barnie, did it both ways the same year, the best trick of all.

Channel swimming has been going on since 1875. In the time of Napoleon and again in the time of Hitler, it threatened to become a sport for soldiers, but much history has been made by the geographic fact that 19 miles is too far for military swimming parties.

Not everybody understands why people swim the English Channel. Not everybody understands why people climb mountains, sit atop flagpoles and build ships in bottles. It's simply that the English Channel is there and that it's full of water.

The young Egyptian who swam it last Sunday was only the 57th out of the hundreds who have tried.

He Was 'Mr. American'

Ponders Fate of G.O.P. Without Taft

WASHINGTON

When "Mr. Republican" died, did the Republican party die, too?

This is the fateful question which really challenges the political world today as the memory of beloved Bob Taft is honored by the nation. The widespread praises for his fairness, sincerity, forthrightness and intellectual integrity sound strange, indeed, when read in the light of what was being said and written about the Ohio senator by his opponents not only a year ago but just a few short weeks ago as he advocated, in his speech at Cincinnati, a foreign policy based on truly American principles.

HAD BOB TAFT lived he might have shaped the Republican party into an effective expression of the wishes of a majority of true Americans. When the Senator learned that recovery of his health was doubtful, his chief lament was that he could not help the President for whom he had developed a real affection. Taft wished he could be spared. For, as he said to a friend, "Ike needs me."

President Eisenhower, to be sure, has needed the advice and counsel of Sentator Taft, especially in these last few weeks. For "Ike," the man of genial personality and high sense of duty, is new and untried in politics and civil government. He already has shown signs of inexperience, if not gullibility, as so-called "Liberals" have forced him into dilemma after dilemma so that the Republican party is almost as sharply divided again as it was before the national convention of 1952.

TAFT IS dead—but the millions of voters who wanted him last year to win the presidential nomination are not dead. They were for Taft's principles, first, and for him as a man, second, because he espoused and fitted those principles. It is a following more militant than ever in seeking to have the Republican party become not just an extension of the Truman-Acheson administration but a truly Republican administration.

If unsuccessful this large group of Republicans will inevitably be compelled to build a new party with help from the South and give up the name Republican as the Whigs gave up their name 100 years ago.

Who is there to do battle now in the councils of the White House where the future of the Republican party is to be decided? Who will speak now for true Republicanism as Congress and the country witness "The Struggle for Eisenhower's Mind"—the realistic phrase written by Mayor Clark of Philadelphia, "liberal" Democrat, a few weeks ago? That question may not be answered soon because there is at present no other Republican of Taft's ability or prestige.

BOB TAFT WAS denounced by partisans as "behind the times." He was actually ahead of his times. He foresaw the possibility of making the Republican party into a living expression of an American policy that was neither reactionary nor addicted to fuzzy "liberalism." He advanced constructive proposals of his own on federal aid to education, public housing and health.

On matters of foreign policy, Taft did not believe in allowing American sovereignty to be whittled away by deviating from the original objective of the United Nations. He saw the U. N. as a federation of sovereignties and not as a super-state in which American boys could be ordered at will be foreign governments to any part of the globe. He didn't favor making pawns of American soldiers on the battlefield of either Asia or Europe.

He admired the sturdy Americanism of a MacArthur and deplored the British influence on American officials which prevented a vigorous Americanism in the Far Eastern war. He was against boondoggling of American billions abroad. He will be vindicated in the next decade of history—for he was American to the core.

EUROPEANS AS well as some groups of Americans misunderstood and distorted the Taft philosophy and record. Most of the labor-union leaders in America and their publications and almost all the so - called "liberals" preached a hymn of hate about the author of the Taft-Hartley Act. They called it a "slave labor" law though it merely served as balance wheel to the one-sided Wagner Law.

Some few of those who fought Taft in his 1950 campaign for re-election as senator went to extremes in an effort to smear him. They circulated a picture of him taken many years before when he appeared on a platform to debate with a Communist speaker. They sought by this maneuver to give the impression that he condoned or fraternized with Communists. Some of his labor opponents went so far as to use campaign posters making a display of the "Senator's initials — "R.A.T." Such are the tragic penalties in the lifetime of a political figure.

But what is the verdict now? Here and there are some cautious comments or some flippant damnings with faint praise by New Deal writers but almost everywhere else there is universal acclaim for one of the greatest senators in the history of the United States. He will rank with Clay, Webster and Calhoun. For Robert Alphonso Taft has earned the most deserving epitaph that could be engraved today on the tombstone of a man in public service: "He Was 'Mr. American'."

Men's Wear Special

By TRUMAN TWILL

There is the usual malarkey these days about men's wear—no more and no less.

The customary number of women have squealed, "Oh you poor thing—all that clothing—all those layers of fabric around your neck and your middle. Go ahead and loosen your tie."

The usual quota of men have been thrown out of flossy eateries for appearing in their shirt sleeves. Some have dedicated what little is left of their lives to popularizing sports shirts, to be worn open at the neck.

A few crackpots have shocked their old-maid aunts by appearing in public in roguish deshabile. There can be no doubt about it: The male of the species has a problem. But it is not his clothing. It is ignorance about why he wears what he does.

But no one seems interested in getting at the root of this because that would mean getting down to some of the hard facts of life. First and hardest of the facts is that men, being different from women, must approach the problem of clothing comfort from a different direction.

In steel mills, one of the hottest places to be in summertime, next to Hades, men seek protection from heat by wearing heavy clothing. While that is a special kind of problem, the way men have solved it is typical of the special problems which men always have solved in connection with clothing.

Traditionally they have looked to clothing for protection from the hazards they encounter in their daily toil. Thus, in the ancient process of saving ladies from fates far worse than death, men wore armor plate—and the trouble began right there. They still strap on modified armor plate when they dress up "fit to kill."

In the process of wresting a living from the soil, men learned by hard experience to keep their shirt collars buttoned up tight. Otherwise, hornets, bees, yellow jackets, sweat flies and timothy seed would get inside their shirts.

They learned to wear pants to keep briars, branches, snakes, wild animals and jutting rocks from tearing their underpinning to ribbons.

They learned to keep their shirt tails tucked inside as a precaution against poison ivy, mosquitoes and flies.

They learned to wear closed-toed shoes to keep their toesides from being flattened by rocks, bricks, pieces of lumber and chunks of metal, also the better to kick their enemies into senselessness when the latter were lying on the ground.

They learned to wear hats and caps, as their remote ancestors learned to wear helmets of various kinds, to keep assailants from clobbering their brains into a pulp with clubs.

Everything that men are criticized for wearing or wonder why they wear is worn for a good and sufficient reason. Yet every time the weather hottens up, bird-brains begin to twitter about the way the poor things are suffocating themselves.

There hasn't been any more of it this summer than usual. But neither has there been any less, and it's enough to make a sensible man wonder if people really don't know how we got this way.

TV as Production Booster

LONDON

Officials of the British Broadcasting Corporation and the British Productivity Council will discuss the use of television to stimulate increased productivity in industry.

Richard A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, has repeatedly stated that the creation of a new climate of option in this matter is probably Britain's most urgent industrial problem. People are optimistic that the new educational medium will succeed where other means have failed.

The 66 published reports of the Anglo - American producitivity terms contain a unique mass of authoritative material. Much of it is technical, but one finding is almost unanimous — that the basis of American success is an attitude of mind of the worker, and of management.

The backbone of the TV experiment will be the Productivity Council's "windfall" of more than $280,000 from American counterpart funds (its current income from that source is about $56,000).

The allocation will probably be available for each of three years, and it is hoped to finance a sustained weekly program designed to bring home the facts about productivity to attack existing prejudices, and to bridge the gap between leaders of both sides of industry.

The films for television will be made by the Council, and after showing by the BBC will be available for further use by the local productivity councils.

Paul Fletcher, the productivity Council's newly appointed director of visual aids, has two dominant ideas. First, the new films must not be "woolly," like many documentary films of the past. Second, they must have real entertainment value.

The Mutual Security Administration has been experimenting on European radio stations with the use of well-known entertainers with interludes of statements about productivity, not unlike "commercials." This method has not found favor. The British public, it is felt, will support a more forthright approach to the problem.

The possibility of using the "story" approach has been rejected as too elaborate and expensive. The programs are likely to be based on the discussion group, with well-known personalities and supported by practical illustrations of statements and ideas.

It is appreciated that to be effective the programs cannot avoid controversy. Profits, restrictive practices, and the attitude of management, will all come under review. But the primary task will be to define the existing area of agreement, rather than to start new argument.

The Strong and the Weak

By MARK DANA

It merits note that at the Washington conference of the Association for Physical and Mental Rehabilitation the other day, speaker after speaker discounted the idea of charity in trying to help persons handicapped in mind or body. The general theme was that money and sympathy are just stop-gaps, of fleeting benefit, and in most cases are not even desired by the recipients.

This is a basic working principle of organized charities and of social service groups. It is amply supported by logic, and the proof of its procedural pudding is that indirect aid adds up more lasting results than direct philanthropy.

Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, set the association discussion keynote by insisting that it is a community-wide obligation for all hale citizens to help rehabilitate the handicapped.

"Although much can be done to educate the public regarding the potentials of physically and mentally disabled persons for independent community life," he declared, "no amount of general understanding and good will can substitute for specific acceptance of responsibility on the part of key groups in the community."

As is well known, many social and welfare agencies, veterans' organizations, fraternal orders, and men's and women's clubs of varied types do a great deal of practical rehabilitation. Stores, industries, labor unions and other enterprises carry on their own programs, usually without public display.

There is hardly a church organization which is not trying to help some partly or wholly-incapacitated person, or some submarginal family - - not alone with money but chiefly via a long-range program aiming at independence. State and federal government agencies have a never-ending service on behalf of ill and injured veterans, including those whose minds have been wounded, their normal patterns of living distorted. The blind and the deaf have their own special problems.

It is part of our social system that the well shall help the sick, those with jobs shall aid the unemployed, persons financially secure shall assist those who are not in developing occupational skills for earning their own way. It is much easier to hand over a few dollars as charity, but the responsibility of good citizens towards the unfortunate goes much beyond that.

No Picture of Mirage

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

Some things Virginia Daiker can't locate in the Library of Congress' vast Division of Prints and Photographs . . .the picture of a mirage that one man requested, for instance. But she is able to satisfy most customers.

Miss Daiker says it's anybody's guess how many items there are in the division, created in 1870, where she is a reference librarian. It was started after copyright was extended to engravings and photographs, and copies had to be "deposited" with the library. The division now collects pictures of all kinds aside from those submitted for copyright. Miss Daiker figures it now has close to seven million.

"We've got an attic full of pictures and a whole deck full in the new annex," she told me. "The collection includes a wide variety of materials of all nationalities and from all countries and periods—portraits, reproductions of paintings, some original water colors, prints, etchings, posters, stereotypes, lithographs, cartoons, pin-up girls."

Many persons come to the library to use the collection, but a large number of requests come in the mail. In peak months some 15,000 to 19,000 items are sold. Copies of pictures are printed in the library's photo-duplication department for 50 cents to $2.50. Requests come mostly from writers, Congress and other government agencies, illustrators, architects, schools, libraries, movie companies and television people.

Presidential, general, historical and architectural are the types most frequently requested. Miss Daiker says pictures of Washington and Lincoln are the most popular. Lots of Congressmen want shots of the capitol building. One man wanted illustrations for a pictorial history of aviation. Another wanted pictures showing the early use of pajamas.

"Still another wanted a picture of a rocket used by the early Chinese against the Tartars, but this—like the picture of a mirage—we haven't found." Miss Daiker said. A native Washingtonian, Miss Daiker is a pleasant, soft-spoken woman who plays the piano for Sunday school and is active in the local Audubon Society.

Belgian Earnings

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Real News Newsreel

The more we read of the truce the more we think our side was lucky to get through the signing without the Commies charging that we had dropped disease germs in the ink and used a blotter smuggled in by Wall Street warmongers. . . Some stock market issues act as if we had not only lost the war but had been taken prisoner.

Public reaction to the Korean truce reflected high gratitude but lots of skepticism.

Some of the comment from a few GI's just home or just bound for Korea were: "So the Commies signed a truce! That means war!" "A truce, eh? Well when both sides lost a war what can you expect?" "It must be on the level; a week has passed and there's been no charge of a border violation." "Them Reds must mean it; they didn't abuse anybody during the pen dipping." "Anybody who thinks there's a chance of agreement on a Korean peace in U. N. must have inside information that Gromyko, Malik and Vishinsky are dead."

Other comment included: "How did they come to agree on a truce? Did they run out of recesses?" "I want it verified. After all I fell for that one about the war in the American league being over." . . . "Pease! Wait until Moscow hears about it!" . . . "Yeah a truce is okay by me; I just bought a heavier helmet and had my bulletproof vest reinforced." . . . "An armistice? Good, but I wish I could trade it in for something shorter, faster and easier to operate."

KOREAN MOTHER GOOSE

I do not blame thee, Doctor Rhee
For viewing things suspiciously;
I don't know why, but candidly
I do not blame thee, Doctor Rhee.

They had better add three floors to the U. N. building to make extra room for the hassels on the Korean peace. The General Assembly takes over the matter August 17, to the cry of "Here we go again!"

This could be the first showing of "International Rumpus Room" in 3-D. No truce was ever signed in which so many had so little confidence.

The picture of these armistice routines could be used as an illustration for some ice box or deep-freeez commercial. The papers should have been signed on an ice-breaker.

The halt in Korean bloodshed cheers the world, but it takes a superoptimist to think that an enemy who has taken more than two years to agree on how to shake hands is going to greet you as a Brother Elk in 90days.

Everything that has gone on in those Panmunjon tents for the past 25 months may now seem a minor irritation compared with what's to come. The problems now on the agenda are tailored for the Commie brand of double-talk, monkey-wrench tossing and general snafu.

All we can do is pray that Moscow and Peiping are not merely moving the snafu into a bigger "tent" with increased seating capacity and better voice-throwing equipment.

We will get an early peace if the Commies develop lockjaw, suffer a major case of throat scratch or do the greatest character change ever shown on any stage. Even when they turn peaceful they do it in a way to make trouble.

It is our hunch that the Chinese Reds already have their allegations of border "incidents," armistice violations, etc., all packaged for immediate delivery, and that we will be lucky to get through the week without an allegation from Peiping that some of our peace commissioners have dumped germs on the olive branch.

Nobody can soup up snafu like those babies. The usual Commie techniques can easily switch the scene from "Old Baldy" to "Old Snarl-Up" and make this merely another battle for the all-time championship in stalling.

Taft's Life in Pictures (No. 3) His Loyal Wife

AS A DEBUTANTE, the beautiful Martha Bowers was often Bob's dancing partner. At that time the Tafts lived in the White House.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY for Bob, Mrs. Taft has always been a tireless and politically astute member of the man-and-wife team. In senatorial races, Mrs. Taft was famed for her colorful campaigning and for her efforts in organizing women Republican workers in Ohio counties.

A VETERAN SPEAKER, Mrs. Taft wrote her own political speeches. In addition, she helped her husband map senatorial campaigns.

Cancer Research Grants Are Urged In Memory of Taft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Businessmen who contributed to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's political campaign funds have been urged to endow cancer research projects in his name.

Taft died of cancer in New York Friday.

Sen. Robertson (D-Va), endorsing a proposal by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash) to set up cancer scholarships in Taft's memory, said businessmen had "contributed liberally" to Taft's campaign funds and "could erect no better monument to his memory" than by aiding cancer research.

'Miss Universe' Winners Don't Agree

Dior's Shorter Skirt Proposal Blasted

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Christian Dior suffered a setback in his drive for shorter skirts today when the eight winners of the 1953 Miss Universe contest unanimously thumbed down his proposal.

The French designer shocked the fashion world with his new creations, which showed the skirt line as barely below the knee. Elsa Schiaparelli took up the challenge and lengthened her new dresses to 13 inches from the floor, even lower than last year.

Norman Hartnell, designer for Queen Elizabeth II, issued an edict that skirts would stay where they are—mid-calf. Hattie Carnegie sided with Dior.

With the aid of interpreters, I gathered these opinions on the "Battle of Hems" from the eight beauties who won screen contracts in the recent Miss Universe contest. The eight are training for the harem in "Yankee pasha" at Universal-International.

Miss Universe, Christiane Martel of France—I agree with M. Hartnell. The present skirt length is ideal for women. There are few women who have the perfect legs to wear short skirts. If a woman is wide at the hips and you bring up the skirt, it makes her look like a barrel.

Miss Panama, Emita Arosemena—The longer skirt is much more elegant. It also makes a woman much more comfortable when she sits down.

Miss Japan, Kinuko Ito—I like the longer skirt much better. It's possible that the women of Japan might go for a slightly shorter skirt because they have short legs.

Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago—I much prefer the skirt length at mid-calf. I like it even lower with pencil-slim dresses. Will American women go for the new Dior length? They might go for anything.

Miss Uruguay, Alicia Ibanez—I think the skirt at the middle of the calf makes for a much more elegant silhouette in street wear. But I am in favor of showing more leg and everything in sports wear—if a girl has the figure for it. A beautiful body is an artistic thing, and it should be seen.

Miss South Africa, Ingrid Rita Mills—I am in favor of the skirt where it is—about 14 inches from the floor. If you have it any shorter, you are bound to see a girl's bony knees. And after all, all knees are bony.

Miss Norway, Synove Gulbrandsen—I like the skirt where it is, and I think other Norwegian women do too. Because we exercise more we probably have bigger feet and more muscular legs than most other women, and that length flatters us most.

Miss Australia, Maxine Morgan—If you haven't got a curved calf, the present skirt is much more flattering than a shorter one. I don't think the hemline should be changed. A girl can't be putting up her skirt and lowering it all the time.

UAW Members' Sons and Daughters Stay Week At Michigan Site

Nearly 35 Marion youths have enjoyed week-long stays at summer camp this year at no cost to them or their parents. Cost of the camping periods have been borne by Local 750, United Auto Workers, CIO.

The children have vacationed at Sand Lake, Michigan, where the union camp has been operated since 1947. To date Universal Cooler Division of Tecumseh Steel Products has sent 21 boys and 12 girls. Marion Industries employees' children also have been sent to camp.

The lake, located near Onsted, Mich., is operated by Local 12 of Toledo. The camp was started in 1947 by the Toledo local and has since grown into a large summer vacation resort. It now not only accomodates children of Toledo workers but children from Defiance, Marion and Lima. It also is open to the public.

Transportation to and from the camp for the Marion children was furnished by Marion Local 750. The local also paid the cost of all medical care required at the camp. The Toledo local sent its bus to Marion to haul the children to and from the camp.

A spokesman for the local at Tecumseh said the capacity of the camp had now reached 325 with added facilities to allow week-end visits by parents. A roller skating rink also has been purchased to take care of all bad weather camping activities.

Know Your Capitols"...

NEW YORK STATE CAPITOL ALBANY

New York State Capitol, nerve center of the Government of the great Empire State, is situated near the crest of Capitol Hill, commanding a view of the world-famous Hudson River Valley and the downtown business section of the City of Albany. Built in Gothedral-like fashion, over a period of 30 years, 1867-1899, the Capitol represents an expenditure of over $25,000,000. Erected almost entirely before the age of structural steel, it is one of the most celebrated examples of interior stone architecture found in America. Expert stone cutters assembled from all over the nation, prepared the granite, fine marble and other stone used in the building and carved intricate designs. The Capitol is 400 feet long, 300 feet wide and covers over 3 acres of ground. It is noted for its many elaborate stairways, both exterior and interior, all splendidly proportioned. Many valuable portraits, statues and murals are exhibited throughout the building. New York was one of the original thirteen states, the 11th admitted to the Union, July 26, 1788. Total area of New York, 49,204 square miles, 29th in size. State flower, Rose.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ESSEN, RUHR GERMANY

Amid the ruins of workers' homes where grass and young trees grow crazily on upper floors of bombed out houses which still stand in skeletal rows, in this smoke-blackened steel and coal center; the seething plants of industrial empires built by Krupp and Flick and Thyssen are in full operation.

RIESEL

Inside them there now quietly develops a startling story which some day will make as significant history as the French Revolution.

It will be a quieter revolution. There will be no blood. No violence. Perhaps the word "revolution" is too strong.

Let me report that there will be a sharp change — which may revamp much of Europe! It could create a new industrial system. It could change the meaning of private property in all of Germany, which some day soon will be the most influential force in western Europe.

THIS STORY is virtually unknown in America — familiar perhaps only to a handful of experts. It is the story of "co-determinism." The Germans call it "Mitbestimmungsrecht" and "Betreibsverfassungsgesetz."

Mark well those tongue-twisting words. Here's what they mean:

The German labor unions (DGB) are the most powerful in Europe. They have strong banks and heavy investments ranging from housing projects to movie companies.

German labor is a centralized outfit with no local unions. Decisions are made centrally by a series of John L. Lewises, Walter Reuthers and George Meanys. The most powerful national unions are in coal and steel.

When the war ended, these two unions believed that the world's two major conflicts had been brought on by the great barons whose mountain top homes and baroque castles I've just seen.

To the German union chiefs, the problem seemed to be one of slaying this industrial dragon — as Siegfried once did in the ruined castle high on one of the Seven Hills overlooking nearby Bonn.

THE POINT is, there may or may not have been a dragon. But the union chiefs in this British zone went to the English with their thoughts.

The occupation authorities, then under Major Attlee's Labor government, worked out the following system "to prevent any future industrial baron from using the great mines, cokeries and steel mills all around here, as the basis for a new German war party"

I was told:

They issued an edict giving the unions equal rights with the owners in the management of the billions of dollars worth of Ruhr industrialism. This they called "co-determinism" (Mitbestimmungsrecht).

From 1945 on, each coal and steel firm has been run jointly by the unions and the owners through an 11-man board. Five of these 11 are chosen by the union, two of the five being workers in the plant. Five more are chosen by the owners.

THEN AN 11th man is elected by both. If they can't get up a majority for any such neutral, they form an "Intervention Committee" to propose three candidates within a month.

If these nominees are also rejected, the Oberlandesgericht (Regional Court of Justice) makes the appointment.

Such 11-man boards technically have no say in the distribution of profits. But actually they exert considerable influence on the stockholders meetings. And, in effect, more and more have been deciding how much shall be paid in dividends and how much shall go back into the business.

When occupied Germany became a Federal Republic, the British edict was made a federal law for all steel and coal.

But the influence of the unions is far greater in this picture than that exerted through the 11-man board. (The neutral is frequently closer to the unions than to management.)

ADDITIONAL power comes from a three-man operations sub-committee which the 11-man group appoints to run the plant.

One of the three is the technician. He knows how to keep an 8,000-man plant going.

The second is the "commercial" chap. He knows about money, financing, sales, styles, etc.

The third, always a union man, is the personnel manager. He has the right to hire and fire and handles all labor problems.

The industrialists agree, for the most part, that Krupp and Thyssen and Flick should have been punished.

What has German businessmen in an uproar, is the fact that the unions are now pushing for a national co-determination law — Betreibsverfassungsgesetz — to cover all industry, not just basic fields.

The Socialist party here, a most powerful group, has pledged itself to pass such a law if it wins in the September elections.

The businessmen say that eventually such a law must lead to the wiping out of all ownership influence in private enterprises of any size, first throughout Germany, then over the continent.

Body of Former Crestline Woman Recovered at Sea

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE — Mrs. Howard Helfrich of Crestline has received word that the body of her cousin, Mrs. Lydia Fahrion, a former Crestline resident who perished in a sea crash July 12, was recovered Friday. Mrs. Rahrion was one of the victims of the sea tragedy in which the transocean air liner DC-6B "Royal Hawaiian" went down about 350 miles east of Wake Island.

The body was shipped to Portland, Ore., where the family resided before Fahrion's work took him to Guam. Mrs. Fahrion joined him there two years ago. They had planned to fly together from Guam to the U. S. but regulations changed their plans.

Mrs. Fahrion was born in Crestline 61 years ago, a daughter of Frank and Barbara Poffenbaugh Stephan. Survivors are her husband, Eugene; two sons in Portland and a daughter in California, four grandchildren and one brother.

'Dog Days'

Nation's Business Feels Mid-Summer Letdown

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The dog days—and not the Korean truce — are getting the blame today for whatever letdown business is feeling.

The very minor ripple which the Korean truce made on the stock and commodity markets, in fact, has revived optimism in some previously hesitant quarters.

And today a number of business and financial leaders are predicting that after the hot weather and the vacation period pass business will climb back on a high plateau and stay there for several months.

Consumer buying hasn't slackened yet because of "truce psychology," as some merchants had feared. Two tests of the public's willingness to part with its money are being launched this week—at the luxury and the necessity levels.

Stores are promoting their traditional August white sales—goods which every household must have. And stores are launching the traditional August fur sales—where figures range up well into four figures and test how much of this "big money" is around to be pried loose.

Confidence will get a different kind of test this week down in the stock markets. Bulls think maybe last week's tentative upward step in stock prices may mean that the summer's traditional rising market is belatedly on the way. Bears, naturally, remain skeptics.

Financial leaders appear quietly confident of continuing good times.

The National City Bank of New York, in its August letter out today, says: "In general, business is holding on the high plateau of earlier months." And it finds the verdict of the markets that "the truce is not a dominant influence in the business outlook."

The slight turndown in over-all manufacturers' orders it finds "only about as much as seasonally expected." The bank, however, thinks it likely "that something may be subtracted from current activity before the year is out" but thinks such a drop, if it comes, will be only slight.

The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, in its August survey, notes: "A moderate slackening of pace occurred in some lines of activity because of summer vacations, but by and large trade and industry remained at very satisfactory levels, thus confounding those pessimists who had predicted that depressive tendencies would become manifest by midsummer."

Unforeseen Events Shape Destiny

Chance Plays Big Role in Your Life

NEW YORK (AP)—What role does chance play in your life?

The chances are that a quirk of chance . . . a street you turned down long ago . . . a book you read . . . the passing advice of a friend or teacher . . . a blind date . . . a door you knocked on and entered . . . helped lead you to where you are today.

The odd links of chance or happenstance don't make a man, but they do direct the path he treads.

If he knowingly takes a chance and succeeds, he is likely to call it destiny. If another fellow takes the same chance and fails, he gloomily calls it doom.

"Some fellows get all the breaks," glumly says the unsuccessful man. "If I just had another chance, I'd—"

But there never is an end to chance. Chances lie all around every life, like stepping stones to a hidden gold mine. Unfortunately, rarely do these chances bear a sign saying, "This way to your own Fort Knox."

The truth is that man can't help taking a chance. Every step he takes leads from one chance to another.

Chance several times saved the life of Winston Churchill as a young war correspondent and soldier. In France during the First World War he was called from a dugout five minutes before it was blown to bits.

Churchill took a long chance in the Dardanelles amphibious campaign in that same war—and lost. All his long political life Sir Winston has been willing to gamble on a chance, and—win or lose—go blithely on to the next chance.

Accidents have been a major factor in the careers of many business leaders. As a boy Dave Sarnoff kept his family going by running a newstand and singing in a synagogue for $1.50 a week.

One day he headed downtown to try to get a full-time job in a newspaper. By mistake he went into a communications building instead of a newspaper, but was offered a job as office boy and took it.

The possibilities of wireless fascinated him. Today Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, a pioneer in radio and television, heads the vast Radio Corp. of America. What if he had gone into the right building? Would he be a reporter now? Or would he own the newspaper?

Sometimes what looks like a bad break is actually the portal to a better opportunity. It was that way with Alfred C. Fuller.

Fuller, fresh off a Nova Scotian farm, went to Boston in 1903 to seek his fortune. He became a streetcar conductor, and soon was promoted to $12 a week. Weary of collecting fares, however, he eased himself into the motorman's seat one morning and steered an empty trolley from the car barn out to the street—and right off the tracks. Five minutes later he was off the payroll, too.

He began selling brushes from door to door for a local firm. In 1906 he started his own business with $375. The first year the company took in only $8,500—a sum many of his salesmen now net for themselves—then went on to millions. Fuller always regarded his moment of bad luck as the best break of his life.

The annals of industry and politics are full of such stories. Chance may step into your life at any second, as you pursue the most routine tasks, to offer you romance, new friends, or a new career.

Hasn't it already happened to you? If it hasn't, it will. The art of living is to recognize the right chances when they come your way.

Proof of Cancer Found May 27

Medical History of Sen. Taft's Ailment Disclosed

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tissue taken after death is being examined to determine the primary site of the spreading cancer that killed Sen. Robert A. Taft.

This was disclosed today with the revelation of the first complete medical history of the case as known to date.

The information was given to a reported by one of the doctors completely familiar with the case. He asked that his name not be used, but he said the details were released with the permission of the Taft family.

The account related that:

1. "First proof" the senator was suffering from a malignancy was established at the Holmes Hospital in Cincinnati during the week of May 27. Cancer had been "suspected; however, as one of three possibilities from the time he first came under medical observation in Washington April 29.

The senator had left Washington for Cincinnati intending to deliver a civic dinner speech. But, upon the advice of his Washington doctors, he entered the hospital and his son delivered the speech in his stead.

2. Taft knew about the malignancy from the time of the Cincinnati diagnosis and during "complex and exhaustive tests" both before and after that diagnosis was "a swell patient who went right down the line following recommendations, without any complaint at all." He told his wife of the possibility of malignancy during the second week in June.

3. Almost from the state of his medical observation back in late April, he received frequent blood transfusions—twice a week—even while he was up and about his Senate duties.

4. Early in June, confirmatory tests were made at New York Hospital during a two-day stay that has never been made public up to now.

Taft, upon the advice of his Washington and Cincinnati doctors, entered the hospital under the assumed name of "Howard A. Roberts Jr." The reason for this, according to the Washington doctor who revealed the story, was "protection to him in the event that we might be wrong" about the cancer diagnosis.

5. Later, he underwent trial treatments with some "new experimental agents" and was told "they were purely experimental and that if there was any indication that they might be effective he should regard himself as a "Guinea Pig."

They showed no apparent effect, however, against the particular type of cancer that was then evident.

Here is the story as told by the Washington doctor:

The first symptom that something was wrong came around the middle of April—"He felt below par at the time he went to Augusta . . . when President Eisenhower was there."

He sought medical attention April 29 when pain developed in the left hip and he felt below par generally.

The initial examination revealed anemia, which was the starting point of further tests.

These were carried out at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, with the senator making periodic visits —without entering as a patient until the middle of May.

These tests "did not reveal the nature of his trouble" although they "indicated something was wrong."

The doctor said during these Walter Reed tests, and right from the start of medical observation, three possibilities were considered:

1. Malignancy;

2. A "low grade infection involving the left hip joint;"

3. One of "the rarer diseases that produce anemia and joint pain."

After the initial tests at Walter Reed, it was recommended he enter there as a patient. This he did in mid-May and remained four or five days.

"The White House was informed," the doctor said, "and President Eisenhower directed Walter Reed Hospital to make all services available to get at the bottom of the trouble."

"By the time he got to Cincinnati, there were three skin nodules, two on the skin of the lower abdomen and one over the right temple. These skin nodules were little discolored areas, having a hard center.

"They were removed under novacaine for microscopic examination, and that examination revealed the malignant nature of these small areas. It was the first proof that the condition was a malignancy.

"These, however, were recognized as secondary to a primary malignancy but the source was not clear. . . .

"The senator returned to Washington around June 1, and both the Cincinnati and Washington doctors insisted on a review (of the Cincinnati diagnosis) by an independent group."

The doctor said New York Hospital was selected, because doctors there were in collaboration with nearby New York Memorial Hospital, a cancer research center.

Taft stayed at New York Hospital 48 hours "and the diagnosis was confirmed."

Taft was advised to return for further study, which he did, returning around June 12 and remaining until June 17.

"Very intensive study still failed to reveal the original site of the tumors," the doctor said.

"He then returned to Washington on June 17. Next, the New York Memorial Hospital group of doctors offered to undertake certain special tests, consisting of injecting new experimental substances into the little tumorous areas of skin, of which many more had now developed.

"The purpose was to determine what agents might be effective in treatment.

"There was a 10-day period of testing, running from June 20 to June 30, and none of these agents appeared to be in any way effective against this particular type of cancer.

"The desirability of an exploratory operation, which had been discussed earlier, at the end of the second period of study at New York Hospital, was re-emphasized, and Sen. Taft entered that hospital for the third time on Saturday, July 4 and was prepared for operation which was done on July 8.

"At the operation, he was very carefully examined by three surgeons. They found that within the abdominal cavity there were other secondary tumorous growths, but not primary tumor could be identified.

"Thus, the exploratory operation, in not disclosing the primary site of the growths, was a great disappointment in that it did not give information that might be valuable in treatment.

"The senator made a reasonably good comeback from the operation and bulletins were favorable, with the expectation he would return to Washington on July 29.

"However, by Saturday, July 25, there was evidence of serious developments which were regarded as involvement of the brain from the tumor.

"By Monday, July 27, it was felt important that Mrs. Taft be taken to New York. This was done on July 28, and she remained overnight, being flown to and from New York.

"By Thursday, July 30, the senator had lost consciousness and he died on Friday at 10:30 a.m."

The doctor said that during the nearly-last stages of Taft's illness, the bulletins issued about his condition were "purposely shaded on the cheerful side because he read them before they were issued and also read the newspaper until near the last."

enough to balance the budget.

The outlook is that despite the cuts there will be a whopping $5,800,000,000 deficit at the close of the fiscal year.

The money bills also included 6½ billions for military and economic aid to friendly nations, plus another 200 millions for South Korean rehabilitation. The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, a vehicle for the trade-not-aid theory, was extended to next June 12.

Next year's meeting will be able to start work much more quickly on the money bills. The Eisenhower budget for fiscal 1955 will be submitted in January. This year it was May before the new regime could finish its revisions of Truman's 1954 budget.

road freight train had stopped at the grade crossing and that the flasher lights were working. Apparently the brakes failed on the Rickle car which plunged down the hill and into the side of the train. The car was smashed against and underneath the side of a box car and was demolished. Both women were pinned inside the auto for about 45 minutes. After the crash, the train started up and moved a few feet before the engineer was aware of the collision, patrolmen reported.

Funeral arrangements for Miss Smith are incomplete. The body was brought today to the Moore Funeral Home in Sycamore.

Three Persons Slightly Hurt

Police, Highway Patrol Investigate 4 Accidents

William D. Wolfe, 21, of Columbus, was arrested by state highway patrolmen on a charge of driving to the left of center following a highway mishap on N. Main St., in Mt. Gilead at 2:25 p.m. Monday.

Wolfe in attempting to pass a truck which was waiting to make a turn, forced an oncoming car, driven by Arlie D. Bender, 19, of Wellsville, off the right side of the road and into a telephone pole. Bender received a lacerated left arm, but did not require treatment. The Bender car had a bent rear wheel, door panel, bent axel and sprung rear housing.

At his appearance before Justice of Peace R. R. Bennington at Mt. Gilead, Wolfe was fined $10 and costs.

Martha Shepherd, 30, of Caledonia, lost control of her car on Marion County Road 171, between U. S. Route 30 and Martel, and overturned in a ditch on the left side of the road at 9:45 a.m. Monday. A passenger, Betty Edwards, 30, of Caledonia, suffered a lacerated forehead, but was not treated. The top, windshield and fenders of the car were moderately damaged.

A three-year old Cincinnati boy escaped serious injury in one of two traffic accidents investigated during the last 24 hours by Marion police.

Paul Dearorff received a cut on his forehead when he was struck by a truck at Prospect and Superior Sts. at 2:28 p.m. yesterday. Taken to City Hospital, he was treated but not admitted.

The driver of the truck, U. E. Dunlap, 43, of Columbus told police he was just starting his truck forward after stopping for a traffic light when the child dashed from the sidewalk into the th of his truck. The boy is visiting in Marion with his parents and was accompanied by an older brother at the time of the accident.

A car parked in front of his residence and owned by Roy V. Showalter of 749 W. Center St. was damaged when struck by another car eastbound on W. Center St. and driven by Stan J. Swigonski, 21, of Cleveland at 5:02 p.m. yesterday. Swigonski's car was also damaged.

Marion Registers Sixth Day of Rain

For the sixth straight day rain fell in Marion today. The showers which started last Thursday have dumped a total of 1.2 inches of rain at the Marion weather station, officials there report.

While the rains have lasted longer, they have not produced as much as those which fell here during the five-day period from July 18 to 22. Then the rainfall totaled 2.82 inches.

The showers early this morning produced the same amount of rain as those which fell yesterday, .07 inch. The heaviest rain in this latest series of showers was on Friday morning when .62 inch fell in a 35-minute storm.

The grave is in a corner of the cemetery near bordering woods.

It was Mrs. Taft's wish that her husband be buried in the Indian Hill community rather than in Cincinnati's Spring Grove Cemetery where most of the Taft family is buried.

Correction

A meeting reported in Monday's edition of The Star was of the 308th Engineers Veteran Association, not the 208th as was indicated in the headline. The association is composed only of World War I veterans and does not include veterans of both wars. Mayor Harold Robinson, although scheduled to give the welcoming address, was unable to attend.

16-Yr.-Old Boy Admits Setting Fire at Galion

Charges To Be Filed In Destruction of Attorney's Cottage

GALION — A 16-year-old Galion boy told investigators here that he accidentally set fire last week to the summer cottage of Attorney Carl J. Gugler.

The three-room cottage, located in a woods at the southwest edge of Galioh, burned to the ground Thursday afternoon. Fire loss was estimated at $4,500. The fire which started about 3:57 p.m. had gained considerable headway before smoke from the building was noticed by men working nearby.

The boy, questioned by assistant state fire marshal Tom Finch of Green Camp, Fire Captain Joel Martien of Galion who is acting chief, and Crawford County juvenile officer E. T. Talbott of Crestline and Gugler said the fire started when he was striking match sticks together after he had entered the cottage to look for cigarettes. He said he thought the fire was out when he left the cottage, but when he saw smoke coming from a ventilator, he was too frightened to summon the fire department. Several witnesses said they saw the boy leaving the scene on a bicycle as the fire truck was arriving.

The youth is scheduled to appear before Crawford County Juvenile Judge Constance Keller at Bucyrus Friday morning. Although, arson charges were expected to be filed and breaking and entering charges are also being considered, juveniles are charged with delinquency and are not held on criminal charges, Judge Keller said.

The boy is in the immediate custody of his parents until time for the Friday hearing.

Capehart and Jenner (Ind), Welker (Idaho), Malone (Nev) and Bricker (Ohio).

Lining up for the election today were Millikin, Ferguson, Saltonstall (Mass), Young (ND), Dworshak (Idaho), Margaret Chase Smith (Maine), Cordon (Ore), Hendrickson (NJ) and Schoeppel (Kan).

There were reports that Saltonstall, whip or assistant floor leader whom Taft ignored in naming Knowland acting leader, or Sen. Dirksen (Ill) were willing to take the policy chairmanship.

But neither had a public bid out.

These senators accompanied Taft's body to Ohio.

McCarthy said yesterday that he and "a great number" of Republicans would have to leave the city before voting time. However, Millikin guessed that about 40 of the 46 eligible Republican senators were on hand.

He said the party should not be without a permanent maority leader during the congressional recess, because of possibility of a "worsening in the international situation, a special session or other matters."

PFC. BUDDY KNEISLEY

Word was received Monday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kneisley of 576 Pearl St., that their son, Pfc. Buddy N. Kneisley, had been wounded in the last battles on the Korean front.

In a letter to his parents Pfc. Kneisley reported that he had been taken to a hospital in Tokyo, Japan. He is expecting to be returned to the United States for medical treatment and care.

The Marionite had been in combat duty since his arrival in Korea last January. In a letter received by his parents earlier, Pfc. Kneisley had indicated his company was to go up Pork Chop Hill on July 23, only days before the signing of the truce.

A radioman in the Wolfhound 27th Infantry Regiment, the Marion youth celebrated his 21st birthday July 7. At that time he received a congratulatory letter from his commanding officer, Lt. Col. Charles R. Wright Jr., which in part said:

Shortly before then he was awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

A graduate of Harding High School with the class of 1951, Pfc. Kneisley entered service on Sept. 18, 1952. He received his training in Indiantown Gap, Pa.

Two New Polio Cases Reported

1 in City, 1 in County; Overall Total Hits 12

An 8-month-old Marion boy and a 24-year-old Marion County mother of two children were the latest victims of polio reported today by the Marion City Board of Health and the Marion County Health Board.

This increases the total number of polio cases for Marion County to 12 during 1953. Eight of the cases are in the city of Marion, and the remaining four are county residents.

The Marion boy is Gerald Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker of 416 Davids St., and the Marion County woman is Mrs. Arlene Longacre, wife of Eugene Longacre of east of Marion.

Taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus Sunday, the baby's illness was confirmed as polio Monday.

Health department officials quarantined the family yesterday and the father and mother and two older children, Linda, 4, and Stephen, 2, were all given gamma globulin shots.

This was the fourth and fifth cases of polio confirmed in the city since last Tuesday. Illnesses of Letitia Swartz, 2, of 350 Waterloo St., Virginia Everly, 11, of 540 Blaine Ave., Nicholas Baker, 3, of 204½ E. Center St., and Sandra Cook, 12, of 152½ N. State St. were all confirmed as polio at Children's Hospital last week.

Three other cases were previously reported in the city.

Mrs. Longacre was taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus Saturday where her illness was diagnosed as polio. Her husband reported she had been ill about a week before this time.

Their children are Linda Jean, 4, and Carolyn, 3.

These recommendations will be presented to City Solicitor George A. Piacentino and drawn into an ordinance providing they do not conflict with other city or state laws, Mayor Harold F. Robinson said today. The ordinance would then be presented to City Council for approval or rejection.

Planning Commission members present for yesterday's meeting were: Robinson, chairman, Paul Frye, Safety - Service Director Ralph Forrest, Henry A. Krigbaum, Frank Thompson, and Harold F. Townsend.

City Council Approves New Sewer Project

$89,000 Line in City's Northeast Section Nears Final Approval

Marion City Council approved preparation of detailed plans and specifications for construction of a sanitary sewer to serve the northeastern section of the city at a special meeting Monday night.

Plans approved call for a deep sewer which will serve the largest possible area and be adequate for future expansion of the area. This was one of three possible methods of constructing the sewer recommended by Floyd G. Browne and Associates in a preliminary report to Council at its last meeting.

Estimated to cost a total of some $89,000 the sewer would be some 10 feet below the surface at E. George St. and slope toward the north to a depth of 16 feet at E. Fairground and Jefferson Sts. At this point a lift station would be erected to raise the sewage to the level of an existing sanitary sewer so that it may flow south to the E. Center St. trunkline sewer.

The alternate plans called for either a shallower sewer also flowing to the north and using a lift station at E. Fairground and Jefferson Sts. or a gravity flow sewer flowing toward the south.

In their perliminary report, Browne and Associates recommended the first plan as the best and most economical. They pointed out that although the cost was some $9,000 higher than for the shallow sewer, it would serve much larger area.

In discussion Monday, it was pointed out that there is a large expansion of the northeast section of the city possible and the slight difference in cost made it advisable to have detailed plans drawn for the deep sewer only. Construction of this type sewer would make it possible to construct basements in new homes and provide for future industrial expansion in the area.

Browne and Associates were employed by Council at a meeting July 13 to draw the detailed plans and specifications at a maximum cost to the city of $2,000. Presentation of the firm's preliminary report at the July 27 meeting was the first step, approval of one of three alternate plans was the second step, and preparation of the detailed plans will be the final step. After this Council mus teither approve or reject the plans and if approved must then appropriate necessary funds and hire a contractor to construct the sewer.

Harry Wickersham, farmer of near Claridon, was in fair condition in City Hospital today with a possible fractured spine following an accident Monday.

He was loading cattle in a trailer to haul to market when an animal in the trailer broke out. The trailer gate hit Wickersham, pushing him backwards and falling on him.

His father, W. H. Wickersham, who was helping him load the cattle, said a leg on the gate of the trailer saved his son from being crushed. The mishap occurred shortly after noon Monday at the farm of Benjamin Kraner, two miles east of the Wickersham farm. Wickersham was taken to City Hospital by Schaffner-Denzer ambulance.

Held Job 44 Years

Bucyrian Ends Career As Parcel Post Carrier

BUCYRUS—A 44-year career as an employee of the Bucyrus postoffice ended Friday for Harry L. Ryland, the only parcel post carrier this city of 10,000 population has ever had.

Ryland, who is 69 years old, went on the postoffice department's pension rolls Saturday, ending a career which began July 21, 1909, when he was appointed a substitute rural mail carrier.

In addition to claiming the distinction of having operated the parcel post route since it was established here in the spring of 1920, Ryland also was the first rural mail carrier in Crawford County to use an automobile on a rural route.

The retiring carrier was appointed a regular rural route carrier on Feb. 1, 1912—back in the days when rural carriers drove a horse and buggy over mud roads. Ryland wasn't satisfied with ol' Dobbin and tried a motorcycle — but only for one trip. He got caught in a downpour out on a mud road, full of ruts, and gave it up as an unsuccessful experiment.

Then he purchased an old Model T Ford touring car and used that on his 26-mile route, including nine miles of mud roads, until he transferred to the city carrier service on June 1, 1913.

When a parcel post route was authorized here in April, 1920, Ryland applied for the opening and was appointed. Since that time he has traveled over Bucyrus' streets an estimated 200,000 miles and delivered to Bucyrus residents approximately 2,000,000 packages. And a lot of those two million parcels have come since the beginning of World War II, according to Ryland. From the end of World War I until the start of the second World War, the parcel post business showed a gradual increase, but, in the last 12 years, the incoming parcel post business has increased tremendously, he points out.

A familiar sight on Bucyrus streets with his parcel post truck, Ryland has served under seven postmasters, including Joseph Hall, James R. Hopley, Fred Vollmer, Carl Brown, Carl Young, Richard L. Hertzer and Cline W. Warnock, who has been acting postmaster since last May.

Ryland held the contract for furnishing a truck for the job up until about two years ago when he declined to bid on the contract. His first truck was a Ford Model T. Later he had a special body built for a 1929 Plymouth chassis, which he used continuously until 1951.

Before entering the postal service, Ryland worked as a machinist and a plumber's assistant. He and Mrs. Ryland have three daughters, Mrs. John Forsythe, of Washington C. H., O., Mrs. Harry Kehrer of Bucyrus, and Mrs. L. H. Muth of Dayton. They also have four grandchildren.

HARRY L. RYLAND

More than 100 persons attended a farewell party Saturday night at Aumiller park given by Bucyrus postoffice employees for Ryland. He was presented with luggage, gift of employees. Presentation was made by F. H. Grauer, assistant postmaster.

Deputy County Master Inspects United Grange

United Grange met July 28 at Claridon School when the annual inspection was conducted by E. A. Williams, deputy county master.

A sewing contest was held. Mrs. Hazel Augenstein won first prize and Mrs. Grace Retterer, second. Judge for the event was Mrs. Creta Lusch. Mrs. Ruth Foos was in charge of the program.

Ralph Hurr gave a paper on the subject, "Know Your Ohio." Superintendent A. B. Augenstein presented an educational talk. Caroline and Eugene Foos gave a clarinet duet. They were accompanied by Mrs. Eleanor Jean Showers.

Elwood Parrott gave a talk on agriculture. This was followed by a vocal solo by Mary Jo Garber. She also was accompanied by Mrs. Showers. Games and contests were then held under the direction of Hugh Johston.

Steel Demand Maintained by Auto Industry

CLEVELAND (AP)—The fast pace in automobile production continues to keep demand heavy for certain steel products, Steel, the metalworking weekly said today.

Products in tight supply, the weekly stated, are cold-rolled carbon steel sheets, heavy plate, large carbon bars, structurals and seamless tubing.

"Nevertheless, demand for even these products is not as frantic as it was some months ago," the magazine stated.

Steel said balance already attained in the steel market "has been achieved not so much by a slackening of demand as by the increase in steel production capacity."

Since the start of the Korean War, steel capacity has been increased by about 19 per cent.

Even summer vacations, which usually cause a slack-off in production, "have left little impression on the production pace."

Steel noted:

"The ingot production rate this summer has been consistently at or above 95 per cent of capacity. Output has not fallen below the two-million ton level since the week ending Aug. 16 of last year when the industry was recovering from a strike."

The magazine doubted the Korean truce would exert much influence on the steel market. Steel noted the national budget calls for a 43 billion dollar military expenditure during the 1954 fiscal year, but only slightly more than 17 billion dollars is earmarked directly for industry.

"A bigger blow to steel demand could come from civilian industries than from a drop in military expenditures," the weekly said.

Steel reported the national rate of ingot production for the week ending Aug. 1 rose 0.5 per cent over the preceding week's rate, bringing output to 96.5 per cent of capacity.

Russ Meyer Deal Proving Costly to Philadelphia

Dodger Hurler Blanks Braves for 11th Verdict

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

This might be an appropriate time to wonder what Steve O'Neill thinks now of that round about winter trade that sent Russ Meyer from Philadelphia to Brooklyn by way of the Braves.

The Phillies' manager poohpoohed the idea at the time that Brooklyn had traded itself into the pennant. But with the season two thirds gone, the tempermental right-hander's 11-4 record would look mighty good on the Phils' pitching roster, which seems to consist almost solely of Robin Roberts.

And you can bet your bottom dollar the Braves wince every time they remember that they engineered the deal.

Meyer threw his second straight shutout at the Braves last night in Milwaukee, winning 1-0 in seven rain-soaked innings. He's beaten them four times this season against one setback. The victory moved the Dodgers 8½ ahead of second-place Milwaukee in the National League pennant race.

During the winter the Dodgers had designs on Meyer but they weren't able to pry him loose from Philadelphia until Lou Perini and the Braves, then still in Boston, stepped into the trading picture. In a fast and involved deal the Braves got Meyer in exchange for first baseman Earl Torgeson and cash and then shipped the pitcher to Brooklyn for infielders Jim Pendleton and Rocky Bridges. Bridges was swapped immediately to Cincinnati as part payment for first baseman Joe Adcock.

Meyer has turned out to be the real prize in the package. His 11 victories loom large in the Brooklyn pennant picture. The Braves got themselves a good first baseman in Adcock but the big fellow is hitting only .269. Torgeson has improved his hitting from last year but still is a good distance short of the best at .277.

Pendleton has played only briefly in Milwaukee and his hitting .235. Bridges' current average is .224.

Meyer not only pitched a shutout last night, he batted in the winning run with a single in the seventh inning. With a runner on second base and two out the Milwaukee board of strategy ordered an intentional walk for Billy Cox and took their chances with Meyer, who hit a Lew Burdette pitch off second baseman Jack Dittmer's glove to drive in his first run of the season. He gave up four hits, struck out three and walked nobody.

Brooklyn has beaten Milwaukee 11 out of 15 games so far, including all six played in Milwaukee.

Meyer didn't own exclusive rights to good pitching in the majors last night. At Washington Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox gave up just two hits in a 1-0 triumph over Johnny Schmitz and the Senators. And at Cincinnati Joe Nuxhall of the Redlegs limited Pittsburgh to five hits in winning 5-0.

In other major league action, the St. Louis Cardinals whipped Philadelphia 8-3 and climbed within half a game of the third-place Phils. The New York Yankees smothered St. Louis' hapless Brownies 11-3.

Pierce's shutout was the fourth straight scoreless game in the Washington-Chicago series, which the two clubs split. The winning run scored in the ninth when Tom Wright was hit by a pitch, banged into shortstop Jerry Snyder while running on a sacrifice and continued to third as the prostrate Snyder dropped the ball. He scored after a long fly.

Dick Smith got two of the five hits off Nuxhall, who was given a two-run lead in the first inning and a comfortable margin in the fourth when Andy Seminick homered with one aboard.

The Cardinals routed Jim Konstanty with four runs in the first and added three more in the second inning. Wilmer Mizell coasted with a scoreless three hitter until the ninth when the Phils rallied with a two run pinch hit homer by Connie Ryan.

The Yankees maintained their five-game margin in the American League by battering St. Louis pitching for 18 hits. The attack included four triples and three doubles. Whitey Ford won his 12th game against four defeats.

Garcia Draws Assignment in Series Opener

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manager Al Lopez will send only one member of his Big Three pitching staff to the mound in the three-game series with Washington, starting tonight.

That will be Mike Garcia, who will try to keep the Tribe's five-game winning streak alive. The Indians won their last game with New York and then swept the four-game series in Philadelphia. On Sunday the other members of the Big Three, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn, each won a contest with six-hit pitching against the A's.

Idle yesterday, the Tribe dropped to 7½ games behind New York as the champions whipped St. Louis.

In tonight's contest, Garcia's mound opponent will be Bob Porterfield, and each pitcher will be seeking win No. 13.

Art (Hard Luck) Houtteman is Lopez' choice for tomorrow night, and Bob Feller for Thursday.

All-American Golf Title Goes To Mangrum

CHICAGO (AP) — Pro golf's top money winner, newly crowned All American Champion Lloyd Mangrum, today appeared properly "cased" for a potential loot of $25,000 in the "World" Pro meet starting Thursday at Tam O'Shanter.

Mangrum, Tam's host pro, yesterday pocketed $3,420 as he won the All American prelude to the $75,000 "World" Pro with a 13-under-par total of 275, three strokes ahead of Sammy Snead and Ted Kroll.

That moved the debonair Purple Heart veteran of World War II ahead of Ben Hogan, a notable Tam absentee, as the year's leading cash collector with $18,786.

Mangrum will be favored to take the top $25,000 prize in the big "World" purse offered by his boss, George S. May. That would far more than double his earnings to date.

Mangrum yesterday treated Tam just as a home pro should, banging a 5-under-par 67 after rounds of 69, 68 and 71.

His 275 would have been good enough to win last year's "World," which forced a playoff at 276 between Julius Boros and Cary Middlecoff. Boros won the showdown with a 68 aganst Middlecoff's 70.

Kroll, who like Mangrum finished with 67, and Snead, stroking a final 68, collected $2,180 apiece. Fourth spot and $1,700 went to the 1953 PGA champion, Walter Burkemo, with 279.

Patty Berg will be favored in the "World" women's pro. Miss Berg won the All American in the final round with a 76 for a 308 total, a stroke ahead of another capable pro, Louise Suggs.

Top gal amateur was Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., who wound up 18th in the All American with 336.

Frank Stranahan, the handsome Toledo, Ohio, golf trail regular, who won his sixth straight All American amateur crown, will be seeking his fourth successive "World" title.

Country Club golfers will travel to Bellefontaine this week after losing to Bucyrus at Bucyrus last week.

Action at the Mar-O-Del course was light over the week end with plans being discussed for the annual Lions Club tournament.

SHORT SPORTS
By John Short

Pony League baseball, currently winding up its first year in Marion, may be well on its way to a complete flop. And should that happen, Little League baseball could easily follow suit.

The situation has become so acute that several of Marion's experienced umpires are flatly refusing to serve during the Pony League contests. A few hot-headed parents have become so vile that the fellows just won't take it.

SHORT

The matter came to a head last Friday night when one ump quit during the game. After taking the parents' abuse for several innings, the ump laid down his mask and chest protector and walked from the field. He informed commissioners he would not be back.

Charlie Morbitt, player agent for the Pony League group and member of the Baseball for Boys Commission, is bearing the brunt of the attack. He points out, however, that only a handful of the parents are responsible for the situation. Most of the parents attend the game, keep quiet about the calls and forget it after leaving the park, Charlie says, however, a few refuse to. They ridicule the umpires during the game and even after he has left the park.

One father went so far as to accuse one of Marion's top umpires of carrying a personal argument onto the field and "taking it out on my kid." Morbitt, speaking for the Commission, has appealed time and again to the parents. But to no avail.

Some where along the line the program has gotten out of hand. Commission members, managers and most parents are trying to overcome their early mistakes but the few hardheads are endangering the entire setup. Winning has become paramount in some minds and nothing must stand in the way of their children coming out on top. The kids must win even though the loss of the umpires might cause the death of Pony League action.

We don't have the solution and neither does any of the commission. But everyone agrees too much money and too much time have been placed in the program to allow it to fall apart.

Yesterday's STARS

Pitching—Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox, struck out nine for major league leading total of 124 and gave up two hits in beating Washington 1-0.

Batting—Red Schoendienst, St. Louis Cardinals, singled twice and tripled, scoring two runs, as the Cards whipped Philadelphia 8-3.

England Hurls Two Hitter in District Action

K & W Plumbers rolled by Carl's Auto Parts 5-0 behind the two-hit hurling of Bud England Monday night at Galion in the district tournament.

England was in charge of the game all the way and was never in trouble. It was the opening game of tournament play

In other action Monday, the Rice Hardware girls' team from Waldo was whipped 20-12 by Scotties of Mansfield. Bud's Sports Shop of Upper Sandusky clipped the Harpster Firemen 9-2.

Mansfield Westinghouse and the Sons of Herman from Mansfield will open tonight's action at 6:30. The West Town Merchants will tangle with Swan Rubber of Bucyrus in the second game at 7:45 and Perfection Steel of Galion meets Trinity Lutheran Church of Ashland in the finale.

Prospect Team Wins

The Prospect Playground softball team blasted Lincoln Park 17-1 Monday in its first softball game of the year. It was the Prospect crew's fifth game in a four year period. All five were wins.

The Prospect hitters collected only seven safeties from the offerings of Warren Crabtree and Jackson. Ten Lincoln Park errors and 10 bases on balls accounted for most of the damage. Bob Emery, winning hurler, allowed four hits. He also doubled and singled in three trips to the plate.

Redlegs Draw Mileage From Portside Aces

CINCINNATI (AP)—When Manager Rogers Hornsby of Cincinnati pays a lefthanded compliment nowadays he means it.

Lefties have won four straight for Cincinnati now, including Joe Nuxhall's 5-0 shutout of Pittsburgh last night.

What is more, the portside platoon has given up only one run in the last three games.

Hornsby naturally is pleased at the showing.

"They (the lefthanders) have all been going all right," the Cincinnati skipper conceded. "They're just good pitchers, that's all. It makes no difference—right or left as long as you've got a good pitcher."

Well, how come the last 15 Cincinnati triumphs have been earned by lefties?

"It just happened that we got lefthanders when we traded," Hornsby replied. "All we were out to get was good material, and we got it."

Nuxhall's shutout last night placed the Redleg record against Pittsburgh this season at 12-3.

The Rhinelanders got a quick two runs of Paul LaPalme in the first inning. With one down, Bobby Adams walked, took second on a wild pitch and scored on Gus Bell's single. Ted Kluszewski struck out, but catcher Toby Atwell dropped the ball. He threw Ted out at first but Bell took second on the error and scored when LaPalme threw Greengrass' tap wildly past first.

Andy Seminick homered over the left centerfield wall following a single by Willard Marshall to make the score 4-0. The last run of the game came in the sixth, when, with two out, Seminick doubled and Roy McMillan sent a bloop single to right.

Don Zimmer Draws Hospital Release

CINCINNATI (AP)—Don Zimmer, 24-year-old star shortstop of the St. Paul Saints, was home here today convalescing from a skull fracture which has ended his playing for the season.

Zimmer left a Columbus hospital yesterday where he had been recovering from the injury received July 7 in a game at Columbus. Zimmer was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Jim Kirk of the Columbus Red Birds.

A's Shantz Benched, Out With Sore Arm, Shoulder

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The immediate pitching future of Bobby Shantz, the Philadelphia Athletics' pint-sized southpaw who has won only five games this season, is a big question mark today as far as Manager Jimmy Dykes is concerned.

Dykes, who derricked Bobby when his arm stifened in the fourth inning against the Cleveland Indians Sunday, said the little guy at 27 is too valuable to allow him to continue pitching if his arm isn't up to it.

"I don't know when I'll use him again," Dykes said yesterday. "But I do know it won't be until I'm quite sure his arm and shoulder are all right. Right now they aren't all right, no mistake about that."

Graham More Serious, Brown Warns Enemy

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—If being more serious makes for a better football player, the professionals should keep a close eye on veteran quarterback Otto Graham.

Because, says the 31-year-old Cleveland Browns star, he is knuckling down to training as he never did before. His coach, Paul Brown, agrees.

One evidence of Otto's attitude shows up when he calls signals. He used to hold his left hand in the top position when he awaited the snap from center. But now his right is on top, the way coaches prefer.

"It makes a big difference to the center which way the quarterback holds his hands," Otto explained.

"Otto turned in the most thorough job on the test and had the neatest notebook he has ever had since he's been with the team," Brown said.

Graham said he's become more serious about everything.

Builders Win Pony Contest

G and G Builders whipped VFW Monday night in a single Pony League contest, 3-2. The contest was a makeup game from Saturday's rained-out twinbill.

A pitchers' battle dominated the game in which 30 strikeouts were posted. Butch Simpson of G and G won the game with 13 strikeouts but Harold Jones of the VFW put the third strike by 17 batters.

In the first inning G and G scored when Jim Jones was hit by a pitched ball and came home on an error. Two runs were scored in the fourth when Jones led off with a double, stole third and scored on another misplay.

VFW came through with one in the fifth when Gallimore singled, stole second and scored on an error.

G and G kept its two-run margin, however, by scoring another in the sixth. Welty singled and came through on an error and two passed balls. Jones struck the next three men out. Jones, the pitcher, scored for VFW in the sixth but it wasn't enough.

Tonight in regular Pony League competition G and G will meet Alloy Cast Steel and VFW plays Clark Metal.

Legion Event In 2nd Round

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The second round of the Ohio American Legion junior baseball tournament starts today with Cincinnati Bentley Post and the Columbus Scioto Post featured in the top battle.

Cincinnati, defending state and national legion champions boasting a string of 23 straight victories this season, handed Akron a resounding 10-3 defeat yesterday to establish itself as a solid favorite to retain its crown. Columbus had considerable more difficulty in the first round, edging Celina, 1-0, in a 12-inning one-hitter for pitcher Joe Rotonda.

Other pairings today:

Massillon vs Neffs; Holgate vs Athens; Chillicothe vs Celina; Akron vs Euclid; Springfield vs Newark; Warren vs Sycamore.

Peace Not Yet Won

Time of Trouble Begins For Secretary of State

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' trip to South Korea is the beginning of his time of troubles, first with President Syngman Rhee, then with the Chinese Communists, and later perhaps with America's allies.

Since the Chinese were not the vanquished, but only the other side in a stalemate war, they don't have to yield anything at the peace conference opening in the fall. It would be astonishing if they did.

Their plans are the opposite of this country's. But if they could be softened by anything Dulles said, which seems out of the question, he could hardly have had a softening effect on them with what he's said already.

He's notified them, by way of a public statement, that he'll oppose their admittance to the United Nations, if that's what they have in mind. He could not have said much else since Congress formally opposes their admittance now.

And if they're not showing signs of doing business within 90 days after the conference opens, Dulles said, this country will walk out.

What does Dulles want from the Red Chinese? Their agreement to let North and South Korea be unified, for one thing. Dulles is thinking of unification under the friendly government of Rhee's South Korea, not under communism, since America and her U. N. allies fought the war to prevent just that.

But, since the Communists fought the war to unify Korea under them, and since the war didn't force the Chinese out of Korea, unification is a problem Dulles will hardly be able to solve easily.

If the Chinese were willing to make some major concessions—in return, of course, for something they wanted more—no one yet knows what major concessions they'll demand.

The Chinese Communists might, for instance, want the island of Formosa, claiming as they have that they are the only rightful government of China and therefore have the only lawful claim to the island.

But there would be a wild scene in Congress if Dulles agreed to anything like that. Formosa is the last refuge of the Chiang Kai-shek Nationalist government, which claims it, not the Communists regime at Peiping, is the real Chinese Government.

Since the United States has been helping and protecting Chiang, who has had very vocal support in Congress, it's unrealistic to think Dulles would even consider abandoning Chiang. Besides, Formosa is an outer Pacific defense point for this country against the Chinese Communist mainland.

Rhee and his South Korean Army could make hash of the truce any time they decided to, by attacking the Red Chinese, For that reason the elderly President has been a steady worry to this country.

He has promised not to cut loose for at least 90 days after the conference starts. That deadline would be around the end of January. By that time he and his Army might be incapable of any attack, for this reason:

Between now and then the U.S. forces, which have been supplying the South Koreans, may be able to give them enough fuel and supplies to keep their Army intact but not enough for any big attack or sustained fighting.

Rhee last week indicated he feels the United States has promised to fight beside him if the peace conference fails. Dulles said this country has given no such flat promise.

Dulles has the job, in dealing with Rhee, of trying to pin the old man down to some kind of agreement which he can't misinterpret as an excuse for resuming the war.

Meanwhile, Dulles will have to worry a bit about this country's allies who might be willing to make bigger concessions than the United States to get peace in Korea.

In addition, the allies will be clamoring for more trade with the Red Chinese, a subject highly unpopular in Congress which could well break Dulles' official neck if he went too far in agreement along those lines.

Sen. McCarthy Renews Attack On Allen Dulles

CIA Head Accused of Cover Up To Protect DepartmentOfficer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today accused Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, of covering up information about a top official of the supersecret organization.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, made public correspondence with Dulles, brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, about getting information in the loyalty-security file of William P. Bundy.

McCarthy, in a Senate speech last month, said Bundy had contributed $400 to the defense fund of Alger Hiss. Bundy is a top CIA official and a son-in-law of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Hiss is a former State Department employe now in prison, convicted of lying under oath when he denied passing secrets to a prewar Soviet spy ring.

Dulles advised McCarthy that a complete investigation of Bundy resulted in a "favorable determination by the CIA loyalty board and the loyalty review board of the Civil Service Commission."

He added, however, that a reevaluation of Bundy's case is being made in line with President Eisenhower's new security program and he felt he should not "comment on certain phases" meanwhile.

McCarthy wrote Dulles yesterday:

"Your insistence that the Congress is not entitled to obtain information about improper conduct on the part of your top officers is extremely revealing—doubly so in view of the material which has been coming to me within the past few weeks.

"Unfortunately the Congress is going out of session tonight . . . However, the full matter will be submitted to my committee and undoubtedly to the Senate upon its return.

"I might add that it would seem that the last man in the world who would try to protect and hide the facts about one of his top officers' associations with and contributions to a convicted traitor would be the head of the CIA."

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—A mild reaction took the stock market down a peg today after four straight advances.

Softness in the market was apparent from the start, and prices backed down all around. Losses were held below a point in almost all instances with the bulk of them quite small. Gains were unimpressive.

The turn down today was not surprising to brokers who felt that a mild sort of reaction was due after the vigor of the recent rise.

Lower stocks today included New York Central, American Telepone Republic Steel, General Motors, Anaconda Copper, Standard Oil (NJ), and Douglas Aircraft.

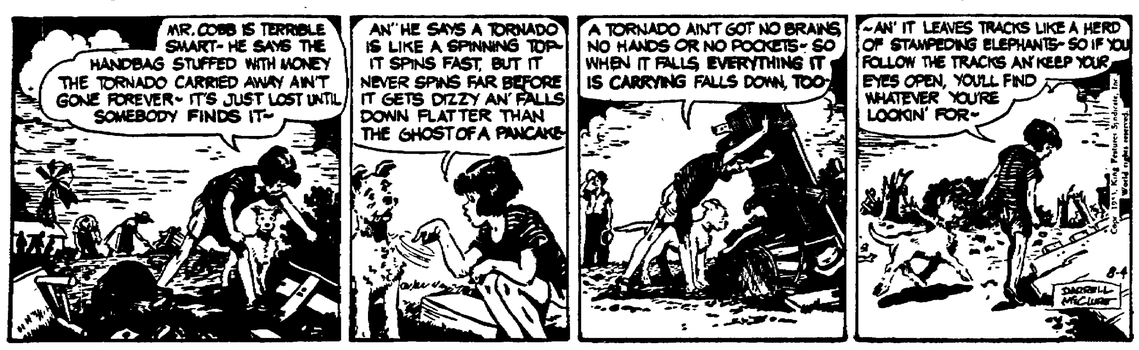
Annie Rooney — By Darrell McClure



MR. COBB IS TERRIBLE SMART- HE SAYS THE HANDBAG STUFFED WITH MONEY THE TORNADO CARRIED AWAY AIN'T GONE FOREVER- IT'S JUST LOST UNTIL SOMEBODY FINDS IT-
AN' HE SAYS A TORNADO IS LIKE A SPINNING TOP- IT SPINS FAST, BUT IT NEVER SPINS FAR BEFORE IT GETS DIZZY AN' FALLS DOWN FLATTER THAN THE GHOST OF A PANCAKE-
A TORNADO AIN'T GOT NO BRAINS NO HANDS OR NO POCKETS- SO WHEN IT FALLS EVERYTHING IT IS CARRYING FALLS DOWN, TOO-
-AN' IT LEAVES TRACKS LIKE A HERD OF STAMPEDING ELEPHANTS- SO IF YOU FOLLOW THE TRACKS AN' KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN, YOU'LL FIND WHATEVER YOU'RE LOOKIN' FOR-

THAT HOGAN! TO THINK HE'D GO OVER TO THE REDS—AFTER ALL HE TAUGHT ME!
CAN ANY ONE OF YOUR OTHER LIEUTENANTS TAKE OVER HOGAN'S JOB, SNOWFLOWER?
THEY WOULD TRY, BUT FEW OF THEM KNOW THE MODERN MILITARY DEVICES THE RUSSIANS HAVE TAUGHT THE CHINESE REDS!
THEN WE HAD BETTER MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO GET YOU TO A NEUTRAL BORDER SO YOU MAY HAVE POLITICAL ASYLUM OUTSIDE OF CHINA...
PERHAPS I FAILED TO MAKE MYSELF QUITE CLEAR ABOUT THIS...! NONE OF MY PEOPLE COULD LEAD THESE GUERRILLAS, BUT I CAN! —AND I SHALL! GOOD NIGHT, GENTLEMEN!

Howler Monkeys Detest Airplanes

WASHINGTON (UP) — The 300 or so howler monkeys on Barro Colorado Island in the Canal Zone are extremely skeptical of mechanical progress and especially of the airplane.

Whenever one of man's "superhawks' swoops low over the island, the monkeys voice their objection to this unwarranted encroachment of their domain with a harsh chorus of blood-curdling yells.

This monkey domain is a six-square mile wildlife area in Gatun Lake of the Canal Zone administered by the Smithsonian Institution.

The monkeys who inhabit the island are big, black-bearded, and extremely ugly animals who are distributed over the area in six clans, each with its own closely defined territory.

Ordinarily there is no communication or warfare among the clans but when a common danger threatens — or when an airplane flies too low — all clans raise a concerted chorus.

The weird howl, which can best be described as a cross between a dog's bark and a mule's bray magnified many times, is made possible by the peculiar throat structure of the beasts.

Besides using the howl as a weapon of defense the monkeys also bray in concert to the rising sun or full moon.

The monkeys have been conditioned, of course, to the usual perils of the jungle such as a hawk or eagle preying on unattended young. They understand these dangers fairly well and know how to cope with them. Since the airplane is something new and strange in their experience it is also a danger—a "monster which must be scared away with the same howl which frightens the hawk.
